THE SERVICEMAN'S CORNER:

Hello, fellows---all you Brisbane far-from-homes. This week we have two letters from you to print in this column--as follows:-----

Somewhere in Korea
Dear Reeces: Aug. 17:51

I thought it was about time to write you again--so here goes:

I'm fine, but plenty homesick. This sure doesn't compare with Brisbane!

I don't have a picture of myself as yet, but as soon as I happen to get one, will send it to you for your office window.

I am enclosing my brother Dick's address, as I know he will enjoy the Byline very much, as I do. I don't know John Zgraggen's or Don Casey's addresses.

Well--I hear a rumor that I might go home in the very near future---but YOU know rumors!

Well, people--I'm not much on letter writing, as you can see, but I'll try to write a longer letter next time.

As always,

CLYDE (SPIKE) WAKELEE.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

San Diego Naval Base
Dear Reeces: August 19:51

Well, here we are--in the Navy!--- Sick--Sober--Sorry---Broke---Disgusted--- and Sad! Other than these minor details we are all fine. Sure do miss old Brisbane, and all the hometown folks.

Hope you are all fine back there. So far, we are still together--in the same company, barracks, and squad. Lamar has been appointed squad leader, so Jeff and I have it pretty soft. (?) If he gets too "salty"--Jeff and I will be on that next "Jet" home!

We would appreciate it if you would send us the Byline--and please tell all the kids "hello" for us, and to write if they have time. We8ve got to close for now and go to "chow"--so, for this time,

JIM (CRAWFORD)-JEFF (SHACKLE-FORD--?) and LAMAR (PENNLY--?).

* * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Gosh kids--thanks for the swell letters. If Jeff and Lamar's last names are spelled wrong above, it's because I had to get the last names from kids up at the "Fountain"--and THEY weren't sure of the spelling.

Thanks to Clyde Wakelee for the [illegible] address. Now that's one more who will be getting the Byline every week. I still have about seven of you fellows on my list who are not getting the paper--because you have failed to send in your mailing addresses.

Thought you guys might like to know that Brisbane was like old-home-week last weekend, with six guys here on leave all to once!--Red Gregory, up from Camp Delmar on 12 days leave; Eddie Baron on 15 days leave "between operations" on his knee; Mickey Hunter, "awainting transfer"---here from Pearl Harbor; Rick Hatch, down on a 3 day pass from Klamath, California--to have reunion (after more than a year) with Herb Gagnier, who is here on 30 day leave before heading overseas; and Teddy Van Kirk, here on leave, also. And then, we hear from Mrs. Ingram of the local Post Office that her "kids" Nick and Melody Guice will be coming back here next month--from Fort Eustis, Virginia. Nick is being released from Service, and Melody is almost well enough to travel again after her very serious illness.

Well, fellows, that's all for now. See you in two weeks (No Byline next week, Aug. 31st.) Your editor is taking a week-end trip up to Klamath Falls, Oregon, for a beeg family reunion---so friend husband can meet up with all the aunts and uncles and cousins on my side of the family, which he's never met. Some fun, huh kids??? 'Bye now--keep the letters and snapshots coming. As ever, YE EDITOR.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

We wish to extend our thanks to the Brisbane Byline for the excellent publicity we were given in a recent issue, in regards our Mobile Unit free Chest X-Ray service, which was here on Monday of this week.

Due to the publicity, a total of 73 Brisbane citizens took advantage of this free service, a larger number than ever before.

Kindly accept our sincere gratitude--

BRISBANE SETS RECORD FOR FIRE SAFETY:

Brisbane can be proud of it's fire record this year. Only one fire was reported on the 4th of July---and that was not caused by firecrackers. This puts Brisbane at the top of the list in San Mateo County for safe and sane fourth of July's!

The Brisbane Fire Department feels that much of the credit is due to the Byline, for it's advance publicity in warning the public. Due to this advance publicity, the local public was made "fire conscious"--and great care seemed to have been taken here over the dangerous "fire-hazard" days. Once again--it has been proved that "it pays to advertise"--hence Brisbane's record for the most safe and sane Fourth in San Mateo County this year.

However, the danger is not yet over. Let's keep up the good work. We can keep Brisbane standing if we follow the safety rules laid down by your local fire dept.: (1)--POSITIVELY NO OPEN FIRES. (2)--ALL BURNING CANS AND CONTAINERS MUST BE COVERED, AND YOU MUST HAVE A PERMIT TO USE IT. (3)--ALL CONTAINER FIRES MUST BE OUT (COMPLETELY) BY ONE P.M.--

For fire permits, please contact Fire Marshall Seiss at the Brisbane Firehouse.

Incidentally, your local fire department can be given some of the credit for getting rid of some of the eyesores in Brisbane during the present clean-up campaign. We have burned down several abondened shacks, rabbit hutches, and chicken houses, which were a detriment to the health and well-being of our community.

With thanks again to the Byline for it's cooperation in keeping the fire hazard down to a minimum, I am, your Firechief, LOU TERRY.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * *

(Incidentally, did you know that our firechief, Lou Terry, will celebrate his 20th year with the local firedepartment on next March 11th?---Twenty years of service to a community is also quite a record, to our estimation.-- the Editor and Staff of the Brisbane Byline.

RUSTIC COURAGE--by Elizabeth Alice Theis:
PART FOUR

This was too much for Elmer. "Courage? For book-larnin'?" He did not understand such courage. It was "courage" when one wrested a living from the elements. But not sitting at a desk, wearing a white collar-----.

In her nervousness she dropped a cup, which was something that seldom happened to Sadie Lonnon. An involuntary exclamation of annoyance broke from her as she cast an exasperated look at her husband. Assuredly it was his fault that the morning meal was getting to be a nightmare.

"Elmer, I do believe you can't see any further than your own nose!" The remark irritated him--what in tarnation had come over her since that Sunday when the high-school principal had paid them a visit? But then--women were funny--always living in clouds.

So--winter came. A heavy winter. Not for forty years had the snow piled up so high. The McGrath boy had given up high school. Too heavy rains--pr so he said.

"Wise one, that McGrath boy" Elmer commented. "Not enough courage" retorted his wife.

Often the three sat beside the fire reading the daily papers or catalogues. Sometimes they mused on crop prospects for the coming year, talking of the endless interests that farm folk have in the success of their life-works. But young Benny Lonnon no longer laughed free and heartily as he had on other long winter nights. A dull, dogged look replaced the shining light which had been in his eyes. But ever the snows piled higher. The rural mail carriers had much difficulty now in delivering the mail. Already the waters were rising dangerously. Train schedules were disrupted and a few bridges were in danger. A lurking menace pervaded the air.

Elmer Lonnon found himself walking uneasily over his spacious meadows near the river--a shadow in his eyes. The waters at the north end of his acreage never had raised so high that any real danger was imminent. Once it had washed a bridge away--but as for overflowing the high banks bordering his own large meadows -----. He put the thought away with a shrug of his broad, work-bowed shoulders.

But still the waters kept rising. Never had the mountains cradled so much snow as long as anyone could remember. If only Spring would not come too soon! The warm gentle winds would melt the snow too quickly.

Benny said nothing. He probably never even sensed danger; his own disrupted dreams were paramount in his mind. It was hard for a boy of fifteen to put aside a dream of the future. Every morning, without a word, he helped his father with the chores. But he never spoke of the thing nearest his heart.

OF INTEREST TO "CRISS-CROSS PUZZLE" ENTRANTS:--

In case you didn't see it, in Tues. night's San Francisco News--the following announcement appeared:

"Contestants will be interested to learn that the exact goal score was attainable in all but two of the 96 puzzles. No. 82 and 84 could be reached only within one point of the goal score.

Judges have pointed out that the manner in which the contestant arrived at the goal sobre does not matter, as long as the goal was reached by a valid "cross path". There are still thousands of entries yet to be checked. Names of winners will be announced at the earliest possible date". SO--IF YOU REACHED A FINAL SCORE OF 2 POINTS AWAY--KEEP YOUR FINGERS CROSSED!!

REPORT FROM BLAIR'S RANGERS:

On Sunday, August 19, 1951--Blair's Rangers went on an overnight. Twenty-three Rangers were present for duty, and we reached the bivouac area at 3:15 p.m.

After routine camp duties and mess call, we had close-order drill and manual of arms--then a work-out with the bayonets. We set a camp guard and hit the sack. At 5:30 a.m. we heard first call, had mess at 5:45, target range at 6:15. The shooting was better than average.

Would also like to report that we have had letters from Jim Rice in Korea--from Dave Trudison in Texas, and a visit from Mickey Hunter from Korea, via Pearl Harbor. Maxine Sp... Mickey Hunter is home on leave, and waiting for transfer. He was wounded in Korea and now wears the purple heart. All three of these service men are former Rangers, and are serving their country well---and all are volunteers.
